WOMEN AND AVIATION

Number 44

August 3, 1930

To the Mailing List:

It is nearly a year since the Curtiss-Wright Woman's Department was created for the purpose of serving as a clearing house of information on the subject of women and flying. Since that time some 200 more women have qualified as pilots in this country. A number of distinguished flights have been made by women. Many more women have purchased planes of their own, many hundreds of thousands of miles have been flown by women both as pilots and as passengers. Women will have an important part in this year's National Air Races. There will not only be more women entries in the various events, but there will be more women spectators in the stands than ever before.

Curtiss-Wright, through its Woman's Department, is publishing a weekly bulletin of news on women and aviation. All women who pilot planes, who fly in planes, or who are interested in flying, are eligible to the mailing list of this bulletin. News items having to do with the subject of women and flying will be gladly received at any time. When a new pilot gets her license or when a pilot increases her license rating, that is news for the bulletin. When a woman buys a plane or sells one, when a woman makes an interesting trip by air, or accepts a position in the aviation industry, when a new women's flying organization is formed; all these things are news for the bulletin. In fact anything that has to do with women and aviation will be gladly received.

The editor of the bulletin will be at the Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago during the National Air Races, August 23-September 1, with an armful of pencils and paper, ready to take down news by word of mouth.

Clara Trenckmann, Editor

And Now for the Pilot's List

Since last week, the list of women pilots has been augmented by five more names, making a total of 275 on record to date. An earnest effort has been made to keep this list accurate, but nevertheless mistakes are apt to creep in. Corrections and amendments will be very gratefully received. Please send all communications to the address in the upper left-hand corner of this page.
